

Paulo Stekel - Brief curriculum

PAULO STEKEL is journalist, writer, translator and reviewer. Stekel is a non-academic (or self-taught) teacher of Qabalah, biblical Hebrew, Sanskrit and sacred languages. He is an expert in religious sacred texts' interpretation.

He was born and bred in Santa Maria (Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil) [1970]. Since 9 years old he has studied religion and philosophy. Today, he resides in Porto Alegre (Rio Grande do Sul's capital), teaching Qabalah, Hebrew, Sanskrit and Hierolinguistics [a new science for sacred languages studies proposed by Stekel in his book, entitled "Saint and Profane - etymological study on sacred languages" - this book will be available in on-line english version soon].

Stekel has studied many ancient and sacred languages (Hebrew, Aramaic, Greek, Latin, Yoruba, Sanskrit, Sumerian, Tibetan), many religions and philosophies, schools and spiritual/mystical orders (Yoga, Theosophy, Masonry, Tibetan Buddhism) and various modern science areas (Transpersonal Psychology, Quantic Physics, Linguistics), always maintaining a non-academic character, but studying in a deeper way each area of his interest.

Stekel published four works: "Elohê Israel (Os deuses de Israel) - filosofia esotérica na Bíblia" ["Elohê Israel (Israel gods) - esoteric philosophy in Bible"] (Independent, 2001); "Projeto Aurora - retorno à linguagem da consciência" ["Project Dawn - return to consciousness language"] (FEEU, 2003); "Método de Sânscrito para estudantes brasileiros" ["Sanskrit method for brazilian students"] (Independent, 2004); "Santo e Profano - estudo etimológico das línguas sagradas" ["Holy and Profane - etymologic study in sacred languages"] (GEFO, 2006). In his books and in most papers, Stekel uses a pseudonym: Danea Tage.
